Artist Statement

...Combining the desire to get closer to an object that I am attracted to and thinking about it in a time other than the present...

"I want to draw it, because it is beautiful" is same as "I want to be like that, because it looks cool" or "I want to sing, because it seems fun." This is the first condition of "the desire to get closer to an object that I am attracted to."

The second condition, "thinking about it in a time frame other than the present," is the process and result of a creation derived from an attractive object and the capturing of it on a flat surface. The process of composition, extraction of colors, and the reconstruction of them helps one to detach from the obvious standards of everyday life and start thinking in a time that is out of the ordinary. The result is a creation that includes more "confusion" than "comprehensibility," keeping in mind that "confusion" helps one think in a time frame not of the present. In our busy, everyday lives, we often can't think this way, but it's like how you are transported when you think about a favorite place, movie, or music – I believe this artistic process is similar.

『意識の移動』

抽象的な画面は鑑賞者に疑問を投げかける。

疑問は思考を促しわずかながらも「今」という状況から意識を移動させる。

これは「考える」ということ自体の楽しみと

映画や旅行に行ったときのような現実とは別の世界で生きる感覚に似ている
